

DOVER

Dover is a peaceful and pretty English town where, if you take a walk to the white chalk cliffs it is famous for, you can hear the relaxing, monotonous murmur of the waves washing against the rock.

This is the atmosphere evoked by the unique MOKO panel of the same name. Refreshing to look at, it quietly stays in the background, satisfied with its own calming, pure appearance.

Like the cliffs in Dover, it does not wish to take the leading part, it just stands there with the fine ripples of the sea on its surface, making the space around it more beautiful and special.
